Standing left to right are Robert Mugge, the Rev. Glen Daugherty and Bruce Polk of Harrisburg, and Herb Reynolds and the Rev. W. E. Hanagan of Eldorado. About Town

And Country

Area War Heroes

(NOTE: The following article, appropriate to Memorial Day, was written by Ray Hines of Equality.)

THE SEASON now is here when we will go out to our cemeteries and decorate the graves of the nation's heroes.

In some communities there will be parades and music along with firing squads to do honors to those to whom so much honor is due.

Many of those who served their country have not been gone long and are still survived by friends and comrades, thus are remembered. Many veterans of World War I still survive and well remember many of the characteristics and personal traits of those who are gone on. They remember who died and where.

In World War II the men were drawn from everywhere at once and there were few units that retained their identities as being from any certain town or even from one country. At the close of World War I there had not been many new soldier graves to decorate because a great percentage of those who died still rest in the vast cemeteries near the European battle fields or hospitals where they died.

After the last war many thousands were returned to their homes and now rest in the countless cemeteries near them. During and after our great Civil War many parents or relatives visited battle and hospital sites and claimed the bodies of their kin. These they hauled home by wagon, rail or steamboat. There are many accounts of fathers going to not-too-distance battlefields and viewing the remains of many hundreds of the dead, often in a fruitless effort to identify their sons.

IT WAS AFTER that great war that the custom of decorating the

Higher Income for Farmers Using Soil Conservation Practices

Saline County
Group Tours Farms
Near Eldorado

Farmers high in conservation practices are spending an average of $1,200 a year more money each year than those low in the practice of conservation, Tom Morgan told a group of Saline County tour visitors Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Morgan, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, was chief spokesman on a tour of farms north of Eldorado. The tour was sponsored by the Saline County Soil Conservation district and the group attending included business and professional men and ministers from Carrier Mills, Eldorado and Harrisburg.

"Conservation farming definitely pays," Mr. Morgan stated, adding that studies show this conclusively. He gave figures to back up his statement.

Service to Farmers, Businesses
"Increases in money are made possible," he stated, because thru conservation land can be used more intensively and because conservation practices hold the land together.

"Farmers following the practices," he continued, "spend more money, and this should be of interest to business men." Then he gave his figures on how much more is spent.

Speaking of the Saline County Soil Conservation district, he said

Open House at Raleigh Soil Field on June 3

Open house will be held at the Raleigh experiment field Monday, June 3, at 1:30 p. m., it was announced today by L. B. Kimmel, Saline county farm adviser.

Visitors will have an opportunity to discuss their soil fertility questions with the farm adviser and with agronomists from the University of Illinois.

Without lime, all other soil treatments have given a net loss on the soils of the Raleigh field, Mr. Kimmel states. Limestone has been necessary for profitable operation on this Bluford silt loam soil, he stressed.

Gross returns per acre for limestone used in a livestock system has been $25.80 per year. With grain system returns averaged $18.90. Phosphate has returned up to $12.40 and potash $7.20 per acre when used on land where lime was applied.

"the district is here primarily to render service to the farmer but in doing so is rendering a service to the business people of the area."

The tour, upon which Mr. Morgan was assisted by four conservation district directors, Paul Halbersleben, A. A. Gholson, Ewell Harris and Carl Vance, Farm Adviser L. B. Kimmel, Sam Winfrey, acting area conservationist, and Don Johnson, area SCS engineer, both of Mt. Vernon, was designed to give the visitors a cross section of what the soil conservation district is doing.

There are 600 Saline county farmers, not all active at one time, who are co-operating with the district, it was pointed out. This is about one-third of the county's farmers and about 80,000 acres of land are involved.

At the Roy Watson farm, the group was shown Mr. Watson's pond, which holds a million gallons of water; and Mr. Kimmel told of the value of pastures in the feeding of hogs, using Mr. Watson's hog pasture for demonstration purposes.

At the Phillip Barrett farm the group was shown a concrete flume that was built to take care of water that ran over his ground into a ditch. A grass waterway also was shown.

At the Otis Carter farm which is managed by C. J. Wagner, a very fine pasture was shown and its establishment was explained by Mr. Wagner and Mr. Morgan.

A diversion terrace, which diverts the flow of water, was shown at the A. A. Gholson farm.

At the Paul Halbersleben farm, managed by Herman Riley, surface drainage was shown. This type is best, it was explained, in cases where there is not enough soil porosity to permit tiling of the ground, and is not as expensive as tiling. Its object, it was stated, is to take the surface water off as rapidly as possible before water can damage growing crops.

Fire Destroys House, Barn

Sheriff William T. Barrett and Deputy Everett N. Sneed early today investigated a fire that destroyed a house and barn a half mile west of Saline Four.

They said the buildings were reported to have belonged to Roland Wasson, who is working in Indiana, that there was no evidence that the structures had contents.

The officers learned that the fire started around midnight and was first seen at the barn.

Introduce Bill To Raise Pay of State Officials

SPRINGFIELD — The next governor of Illinois would get a $5,000 pay raise under a bill introduced in the Senate.

And the next lieutenant governor would get a boost from $12,000 a year to $16,000. The governor is now paid $25,000 and would be increased to $30,000.

The bills were introduced Tuesday, with administration backing, by Sen. Everett R. Peters (R-St. Joseph). The pay raises could not apply during the present terms of Gov. William G. Stratton and Lt. Gov. John W. Chapman.

Also introduced were bills to raise the pay of other top state officials: said today his fight to override a veto by Gov. William G. Stratton will have Republican leadership in the Senate.

Such assessments could be raised at the township level by the new multiplier plan, resulting in a greater local tax collection and reducing the amount of state aid required to maintain school spending at the guaranteed $200 per pupil level.

The Senate passed and moved to the House a bill to abolish the much-criticized Public Aid Commission and replace it with a new department under a single head responsible to the governor.

Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston), who has headed an investigation of the public aid program, said the commission "just can't do the job."

The House Public Aid Committee killed a bill to include spars in the ban on fireworks.

Approve Police Increase

The Senate Highways Committee voted its approval of House-passed bills to aid downstate bus companies by exempting them from the state motor fuel tax and by reducing their vehicle license fees to a flat $5. Such fees are now based on weight and average about $90.

The Highways Committee also approved Stratton's highway safety bills to add 500 men to the state police force, and increase the drivers license fee from $1 to $3 with the additional money to go to high school driver training programs.

They also have already been passed in the House.

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved a $700,000 appropriation to completely air condition the state capitol.

In other action Tuesday, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to allow the state Revenue Department to apply tax assessment multipliers at the township level.

Scholastic Leaders

Polio-Crippled Boy and Girl Complete High School Education by Telephone

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. — The boy and girl scholastic leaders at Mount Vernon high school have never attended a day of classes.

Instead, the polio-crippled youngsters completed their four-year high school education by telephone.

The two, Rosalie Anslinger, 18, and Marvin Malone, 17, met for only the second time Tuesday when they were inducted into the national honor society.

Rosalie arrived in a wheel chair for the ceremony at the high school auditorium. Marvin was carried to the school on a stretcher.

They met only last Sunday for the first time when they attended baccalaureate services at the school. They will meet again Friday when they are graduated with the school's highest honors.

Fight to Override Stratton Veto Before Senate After House Passage

SPRINGFIELD — Rep. Robert W. McCarthy, (D-Lincoln) said today his fight to override a veto by Gov. William G. Stratton will have Republican leadership in the Senate.

The House voted 124-34 Tuesday to override the veto of McCarthy's bill which would allow out-of-state heirs to nominate an executor for wills in which they share rather than have such estates handled by a county public administrator.

McCarthy said he hoped to have either Sen. David Davis (R-Bloomington) or Sen. Marvin F. Burt (R-Freeport) serve as Senate sponsor of his bill when the move to override comes before the Senate. Davis served as Senate sponsor of the bill when it was passed originally.

McCarthy said he expected to ask the Senate to vote on the motion to override during the week of June 9-15.

The bill originally passed the Senate with 45 votes—6 more than the 39 that will be required to override the veto.

McCarthy's attempt to override the veto is the first such move since 1951 and no such move has been successful for more than 20 years.

In the House 47 Republicans joined with 77 Democrats to overturn Stratton's veto.

Only Stratton's Signature Needed For Speed Limit Bill

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — Starting July 1 it will be illegal to drive your automobile more than 65 miles an hour on state highways.

The House Tuesday stamped final legislative approval on Gov. William G. Stratton's speed limit bill. The bill now requires only Stratton's signature to become law on July 1.

Besides the flat 65 mile limit for automobiles, the bill sets limits of 60 miles an hour for buses, 55 miles for trucks under four tons and 50 miles for trucks over four tons.

The new law will replace the present speed law which provides only for a "reasonable and proper" speed on state highways.

Ex-Secretary of Navy Anderson Named to Post

Will Be Effective
No Later Than End
Of Congress Session

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey resigned today. President Eisenhower nominated Robert B. Anderson, former secretary of Navy, as his successor.

Humphrey's resignation will become effective at a date no later than the close of the current congressional session.

Anderson's nomination was sent to the Senate for confirmation.

The White House also disclosed that Randolph Burgess, now under-secretary of treasury, would leave his present post to accept another government appointment. The White House declined to say what the new Burgess' assignment would be.

Humphrey's departure from the government has been expected for some time.

He informed the President that he had to give up government service as a matter of "absolute necessity" because of the illness and recent retirement from business of one of his former partners.

The President had known for two years that Humphrey planned to step out of the Cabinet. But the actual decision had been postponed repeatedly.

Secretary Since 1953
Today, Eisenhower told Humphrey that the actual receipt of his letter of resignation, filled him with "profound regret."

"Yet because of your personal situation, which I fully understand, I, of course, accept your decision," the President said.

Humphrey has been secretary of treasury since the Eisenhower administration took office in January, 1953.

Anderson, an Eisenhower Democrat, served as secretary of Navy in 1953 and 1954. The 46-year-old native of Burleson, Tex. later was elevated to deputy secretary of defense, a post he held until late 1955.

Since leaving the government in 1955, Anderson headed a Canadian mining and development firm known as Ventures Ltd.

Anderson was a Texas Democrat for Eisenhower in 1952. In 1956, however, he established his legal residence in New York and registered and voted Republican. He since has changed his legal residence to Deer Park, Greenwich, Conn.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Our Father Who art in Heaven.

tionship to the Infinite and claim our sonship. We should never forget the unsearchable love of our Heavenly Father. In Him we live and move and have our being.

With Bowed Heads

Editorial

By JAMES G. CROSSLEY

On this day of memories, bright little flags ripple on the green mounds that shelter our nation's fallen heroes. These banners signify our gratitude to those who gave their lives to make our nation great.

Their willing hands defended America in the dark and perilous journey through history. Yet these lives were not sacrificed for the mere greatness of our nation. The inspiration which led them into the valley of the shadow was a vision of peace, a world safe for a reasonable life unfettered by force. The greatness of our nation came as a corollary to their search.

This year of 1957, we find ourselves with the weight of responsibility for the welfare of the world's people unmistakably resting upon us. The self-sacrifice of those men we honor today has brought us to a great promontory. Standing on it we have on our shoulders this burden, the need for wise decision and adherence to humanitarian principles in order to carry on their crusade—the search for peace.

And how are we answering to these responsibilities? Can we, as we bow by the side of the brave men who went before, answer that we are measuring up to our stewardship?

In frank appraisal of the year since last we stood by these graves, our nation has no reason to feel shame. Certainly we have not been able to bring into being their dream of a world at peace. Far from that. It has been an uneasy year at best. Perhaps never have there been as many pestilential forces at hand. As more nations take shape and gain self-consciousness, each seems to bring to light running sores of infection which threaten the health of the whole community.

Clashing ideas like clashing swords fill the air with din. Nations cover themselves with shields of self-interest until reasonableness and cooperation seem unattainable.

But we have found our way through for another year. Less mature hands than ours might have kindled destructive fires.
Surely, in Hungary, in the Suez issue and in the unfriendliness of the U.S.S.R., the tinder was there.
What can we offer for the future as we bow by the graves of these men?

We can only tell them that we will struggle on, day by day. We cannot look too far ahead. Step by step we must tread the rubble-filled path.

Daniel Webster once said, "God grants liberty only to those who love it, and are always ready to guard and defend it."

And this we must repeat to those fallen hosts. We will do what we must, as the future unfolds, with full awareness of the precious nature of liberty, ready with our accumulation of modern arms to defend man's right to his soul, but always plodding on in the hope of eventually reaching the golden heights they aspired to—real and lasting peace.

kansas since 1938.

Price of Liberty Is Still High

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Chiang Kai-Shek Had No Real
Plans For Re-Taking Chinese Mainland; Formosan Riots
Were Worst In U. S. Diplomatic History; Many Faces Are Red Over Formosan Incident.

WASHINGTON. — U. S. senators who visited Formosa last year took a long auto ride over extremely dusty roads, then an hour's flight in a bucketseat airplane to lunch with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Madame Chiang on their lake in the middle of Formosa.

They came away wondering why they had taken the long trip.

"Do you think you can retake the Chinese mainland?" asked Sen. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma.

"Bow," replied the Generalissimo, holding out his glass of sweet wine in a toast.

Pressed further, and after more
"bows" which means "health," Chiang said there was no question that he could retake the mainland.

"How will you retake it?" asked Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri.

"When I land," replied the generalissimo, "the people will rise up everywhere and join me."

He gave no intimation that his own people would rise up against Americans first.

WORST DIPLOMATIC ATTACK
There have been some very red faces in Washington and New York following the anti-American riots in Formosa—the worst riots, incidentally, that any American diplomat can remember.

At no time in the history of the U. S. A. has an American embassy ever been invaded and gutted as our embassy in Taipei. An embassy is sacred soil, the sovereign property of the United States, as sacred as the soil of the White House or Congress; and even countries with which we have been at war, such as Japan and Germany, have so respected it.

But in Formosa, American diplomatic property was destroyed, and Americans beaten by angry mobs of the nation which would have ceased being a nation without American support.

No American diplomat can recall anything like it. Had the incident occurred in a Communist country, diplomatic relations would have been severed immediately.

Chief result is going to be a review of our entire relations with Nationalist China.

RED FACE ROLL-CALL

Meanwhile here are the faces which are still flushed and flaming over the outburst of anti-Americanism on the island kept going by American troops and American dollars.

Sen. William Knowland of California — sometimes called the "Senator from Formosa." He is literally purple. Knowland has tried to cut foreign aid to other countries but has insisted on aid to Formosa. San Francisco's Chinatown politicians are among his staunch GOP backers.

General Douglas MacArthur of the Waldorf Tower in NYC — It was over Formosa that MacArthur split with Truman and got fired.
He told Republican senators visiting him in Japan that Chiang Kai-Shek could use Formosa as a base to land on the Chinese mainland and retake Red China. The Chinese people would rise up in welcome, MacArthur maintained. Mac didn't figure that the Nationalist Chinese would rise up against Americans first.

Truman told MacArthur he, not the general, was running foreign policy, and yanked him home.

It was over Formosa that our bi-partisan foreign policy broke up.

Admiral Arthur Radford — Who arranged to meet Ike on his "I will go to Korea" visit and who, while the plane refueled in Okinawa, sold Ike on "unleashing" Chiang Kai-Shek to attack the Chinese mainland. Withdraw the U. S. 7th Fleet from holding back Chiang, Radford argued, and the generalissimo would retake China.

Eisenhower bought the idea, also bought Radford as part of the package. He made Radford chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.
Last week when Radford blasted Ike's disarmament plans, he got bawled out by the man who bought him. Doubtless Ike now wishes he'd never listened to Radford.

Sen. William Jenner of Indiana — who made a speech on the Senate floor calling Gen. George Marshall a virtual traitor because he warned that Chiang Kai-Shek was unlikely to retake the Chinese mainland.

John Foster Dulles — who fired John Carter Vincent from the State Department because he also advised that Chiang Kai-Shek was a weak reed for the U. S. A. to lean on.

Vice President Nixon — who has bowed low before the altar of Chiang Kai-Shek, though not as low as his fellow-Californian, Bill Knowland. Nixon's election campaign to the Senate in 1950 was thoughtfully and generously subsidized by Louey Kung, nephew of Chiang Kai-Shek, who flew out to Los Angeles personally. One of Nixon's campaign managers later made a statement regarding the financial help received from Chiang Kai-Shek forces.

This, incidentally, is one way in which Chiang has kept foreign aid flowing to Formosa. His relatives in the U. S. A. have backed certain senators, and the latter, in turn, have continued to back American aid to Chiang Kai-Shek.

President Eisenhower himself also must be a little red-faced. His 1952 campaign for President was filled with oratory about Truman's mistake in not unleashing Chiang Kai-Shek. So the unleashed Chiang Kai-Shek by withdrawing the 7th Fleet, then found he had to send the fleet back in a hurry to protect Chiang from Red Chinese invasion.

Finally, Ike asked the U. S.
Congress to give him complete authority to declare war, if necessary, to protect Chiang and the same Nationalist Chinese who have now inflicted one of the most vicious attacks on Americans in our 178 years of history.

About Town And Country

hero graves had its start, much through the efforts of a great man from out southern Illinois, John A. Logan. If General Logan were alive today he would be pleased with the efforts made by some of those who take the time to remember those who gave or offered their lives for this country.

A quick rundown shows that some of the southern Illinois Civil War regiments were engaged in all the major battles of the west and countless small battles or skirmishes.

Hardships of the soldier of that day are almost beyond imagination of us who are unacquainted with the methods of killing employed by the armies of the Civil War. The diets, if they could be called such, were enough to kill anyone. Medicine, doctors and hospitals as we know them today were non-existent. Smallpox, typhoid, measles and other disorders killed men by the thousands and bad sanitary conditions around the large semi-permanent camps contributed to the sick rolls.

Any man, from the North or South, who fought through the Civil War was a hero beyond any doubt.

A good many men from southern Illinois rose to the rank of General during the Civil War. Some of them like Logan and Lawler have monuments to their memories and a good number do not have.

One neglected by the home folk is Major General James Harrison Wilson of Shawneetown. He was ranked in personal popularity after the war according to many authorities, about fourth behind Grant, Sherman and Sheridan.

Wilson was born in Shawneetown in 1837, son of pioneers whose families helped settle the town. He was graduated from West Point in 1860 and assigned to the army engineers. Early in the Civil War he saw service in McClellan's army in the east and later was transferred to the western army under Grant, being assigned to the staff of Gen. James B. McPherson. As a lieutenant he took part in the Vicksburg battle and later, with Grant at Chattanooga, he was a colonel. In December, 1863, he was promoted to brigadier general and went east with Grant early in 1864 where he commanded a division of cavalry under Sheridan.

He had many outstanding accomplishments, climaxed by the Battle of Nashville, where a lot of credit for the Union victory should go, and did go, to the young general from Gallatin county.

John A. McClarnand, though born in Breckinridge county, Ky., also spent his youth in Shawneetown, where he practiced law and served in congress. At the outbreak of the Civil War McClarnand was commissioned brigadier general and served under Grant at Belmont, Forts Henry and Donaldson. He commanded a division at Shiloh and an army corps at Vicksburg. He later served in the ill-fated Red River expedition under N. P. Banks.

Harrisburg might take notice here: Greene B. Baum spent a great deal of his time there in his law practice. He also served with distinction in the Civil War, rising to general rank.

He was a modest and all-around great man. Along with Logan he did much to swing southern Illinois into the Union fold at the outbreak of war.

Verner E. Joyner Sr., local insurance man, was taken to Lightner hospital early yesterday morning after suffering a heart attack. He is still under an oxygen tent. Reports this morning were that he had a comfortable night.

Jet propulsion was adopted first by squids and cuttlefish as a natural means of propulsion in water, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

The Power of Memorial Day

by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

I had the privilege of growing up in small Ohio communities in the early part of this century, and one of my most inspirational memories centers around Memorial Day and the old soldiers of the Civil War.

To me, Memorial Day was one of the most moving of all the national holidays. I was stirred by the speeches and martial music from the bandstand or cemetery on what we called "Decoration Day." There was something about the newness of life that the Spring had brought; soft sunshine falling on the fresh green grass of early summer, the misty hills in the distance, the sound of stirring national songs, and above all, the softly flapping flag in the gentle breeze as the speaker told us of our country, the deep devotion of its heroes, and recounted once more the stirring episodes of our heroic past.

And many a lazy summer afternoon, I sat on the coping around the old courthouse listening to the veterans of the Civil War tell of their experiences in the epic struggle between the States. A boy's imagination quickly sent him off behind long columns of blue or grey, and to him, such names as Antietam, The Wilderness, Shiloh, and Gettysburg became very real and meaningful.

Those old soldiers used to talk gratefully of Lincoln's insistence that those who had borne the heat of the battle and the burden of the struggle, the widow and the orphan, were to be given no charity, but their rightful due as the dependents of those brave men who had fought to preserve liberty and to keep the Union intact. It was regarded as a sacred duty of the nation, and the nation kept faith with its veterans.

In those days, as now, were many who had been disabled by the struggle. Their ability to compete in life had been reduced by wounds suffered in battle. Even as a boy I remember hearing how it seemed they were thought of only on such days as Memorial Day, when orators, fervent in their patriotism, remembered, if only for a day, the long continuing sacrifice made not by those who had died in battle, but by the disabled who were to live for many years following the great struggle.

The heroes of World War I and World War II and the Korean War are, of course, men who, with no concern for themselves, gave their lives that freedom might live. We can never do them adequate honor. And, we must never forget them. They died in their young life, forsaking the opportunities of the years that the rest of us might live and develop our highest hopes and dreams.

However, there are other living heroes who deprived themselves of either physical, emotional, or mental health for us and for their fellow countrymen. It would be as wrong for us to neglect or forget them as their buddies who today sleep on some Pacific Island or in a European cemetery. A hero dead or a hero maimed and disabled are both due our equal gratitude and our unceasing devotion.

We must never forget that the most effective way of honoring those who have died is to remember the living disabled, that their lives may be rich and full. They are a great asset to our country as the living embodiment of devotion to freedom. A country is recreant indeed which does not everlastingly keep alive grateful appreciation to those who suffered disability to perpetuate everything that we Americans hold dear.

There could be no better time than on Memorial Day to resolve that we shall gratefully support the honored men and women who have suffered disability from the wars of the United States.

(Written especially for the Disabled American Veterans, the Identity Tag organization)

Team Up for Highway Safety,
Motorists Advised

In connection with the trucking industry's summer safety campaign, "Team Up for Highway Safety," Chas. E. Snyder, terminal manager of the Ellis Trucking Co. Inc., today urged everyone who drives a motor vehicle to do his part to make the highways safer this summer and to help hold down the upswing in traffic accidents during the vacation season between Memorial Day and Labor Day.

"When you travel away from home this summer, make yourself a welcome guest wherever you go by driving carefully. Drive as you would like others to drive past your home and along the streets where your children are playing," Mr. Snyder urged. "Obey traffic laws wherever you go and leave yourself an extra margin of safety so you won't be booby-trapped into an accident by the errors of other drivers or pedestrians."

"Above all," he said, "don't make the basic mistake of trying to cover too much territory in a short time. Every year hundreds, if not thousands, of vacations end in tragedy because of one thing—hurry. Allow yourself enough time so that excessive speeds are not required to reach your destination."

"Don't forget to allow time for rest and refreshment. Driving in warm weather is tiring both to the driver and his passengers. An occasional short stop is mighty refreshing and will help the driver to keep alert for safety's sake. Follow the rule of professional drivers and don't try to drive more than 10 hours without at least 8 hours' rest.

"Drive a safe vehicle. The best driver is severely handicapped behind the wheel of a clunker. Have your car checked and tuned up by a competent mechanic before you start. This is important, not only for safety but to avoid the inconvenience and expense of breakdowns on the road. Don't neglect regular car care. Your vacation will be no vacation for your car. Have grease jobs and oil changes done at regular intervals just as if you were at home," Mr. Snyder advised.

Arkansas rates about one-third of its area as farm land and more than 67 per cent of its population as rural.

Says 81 Million
Could Be Killed
In H-Bomb Attack

WASHINGTON 28—A government meteorologist testified today that as many as 81 million persons could be killed and 24 million injured in a theoretical—but possible—H-bomb attack on the United States. Charles Shafer, a Weather Bureau expert assigned to the civil defense administration, said such a toll could result if there were no evacuation. With 50 per cent evacuation to adequate shelter, he said, the death toll could be reduced to 31 million. Shafer testified before a special congressional subcommittee study. The Ming dynasty ruled China from 1368 to 1644.

Sailor Feels No Regrets Over 7-Hour Rampage

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 21-year-old mild-mannered sailor had "no regrets" today over killing his division officer and wounding two other men during a seven-hour rampage aboard a Navy attack transport.

The sailor, Jimmie L. Henderson, of Marin City, Calif., said he was not sorry he shot and killed Ens. Arthur L. Morris, 26, of Stow, Ohio.

"I feel like Mr. Morris needed it," Henderson said.

He said he shot Morris' roommate, Ens. Richard V. Harrison, 23, of Grand Rapids, Mich., "because he got in the way." Harrison was shot in the abdomen and the arm, but was reported in satisfactory condition at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital.

After the shooting, Henderson took Seaman R. W. Lakey, 20, Springfield, Ore., as hostage and seized control of the ship's bridge for more than six hours.

He finally surrendered to the pleadings of his mother, two chaplains, his commanding officer and a Marine officer, as a dozen Navy and Marine sharpshooters watched warily from the rigging and decks of the U. S. S. Uvalde.

The tense drama had its beginning Monday when a special court martial convicted Henderson on charges of failing to return a shipmate's watch which he had found. He was broken to seaman from third class dispensing clerk and sentenced to four months in the brig. Morris reported him and Harrison defended him at the court martial.

His commanding officer, Capt. Robert O. Beer, who helped coax the bespectacled Henderson to surrender, said "he felt he was being persecuted ... that the sentence was too severe."

Plan to Begin Construction of Huge Cross at Bald Knob Not Later Than 1960

The huge, lighted cross atop Bald Knob mountain in southern Illinois is to be constructed beginning not later than 1960. The announcement was made following the annual meeting of the Bald Knob Christian Foundation, Incorporated, sponsors of the project.

Warren Hastings, businessman in Mounds, and president of the Foundation, said contributions being received by mail to THE CROSS, Cairo, Ill., Illinois.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is giving its "moral support" to the movement. Some individual clubs are contributing on a voluntary basis but the Federation has not made it one of its projects.

Some thirty farmers in Saline county are raising pigs to help swell the cross fund.

Wilford N. Stiff, Former Resident, Dies at Kewanee

Wilford N. Stiff, 72, of 621 Wilford street, Kewanee, and formerly of Harrisburg community, died at his home suddenly of a cerebral hemorrhage at 1 p. m. May 11th. He was a retired accountant and had been seriously ill for several months.

The son of Noah and Mary Stiff, he was born near Harrisburg May 10, 1885. His parents preceded him in death.

Mr. Stiff was married to Miss Gertrude Harris on Nov. 30, 1911. Mrs. Stiff survives as do their two sons, Dr. R. H. Stiff, dental surgeon of Selma, Ala., and Cecil Stiff, Kewanee. One daughter, Mrs. Marie Kratzer of Davenport, Iowa, eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild also survive.

Brothers who are living are Roy Stiff and Ed Stiff and his two sisters are Mrs. Laura Hancock and Mrs. Mitt Mottisinger, all of Carrier Mills community, except Roy Stiff who lives at New Lenox.

Mr. Stiff had lived in Kewanee since 1920 and had been employed by the Boss Manufacturing company and the Walworth Manufacturing company. He was a graduate of Quincy and the LaSalle Extension university of Chicago. He was an auditor working out of Washington at the time of his retirement.

At the time of his death, Mr. Stiff was making arrangements to appear on the $64,000 question television program.

He was a member of the First Methodist church of Kewanee where funeral services were held at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday, May 15. The Rev. Kermit Gregory, pastor, officiated and burial was in the Pleasant View cemetery.

River Pirates Plead Guilty to Bank Robbery

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Two "river pirates" who robbed a small town Illinois bank of $40,000 and were captured by a riverbank posse, Tuesday pleaded guilty to charges of robbery and interstate transportation of stolen property.

Arthur Kerner, 30, and Robert Ferrise, 35, both of St. Paul, Minn., were arraigned before U. S. District Judge William Juergens. Disposition of the case will be made on June 11.

Kerner and Ferrise, both of whom served terms in the Minnesota State Penitentiary on burglary charges, told FBI agents they took $1,500 in a tavern robbery and bought a 19-foot cabin cruiser last month.

They said they were on their way to New Orleans by way of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers when they robbed the bank at Mounds, Ill., and tried to escape by boat. They were pursued by Cairo bank president, Barney Fisher, who heard a police report and gave chase in his boat.

They were captured by Kentucky authorities when they took refuge in a cave on the Kentucky side of the river.

Evangelist Hits Divorce As Taking God's Name in Vain

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Graham Tuesday night preached a hard-hitting sermon on the Third Commandment, in which he said divorce and marital infidelity are "grave sins of taking the name of the Lord thy God in vain."

The Third Commandment is not only a prescription against swearing, the 38-year-old Baptist minister said, but also against divorce, "cheating on your wife," "gluttony," "defiling of the body," "hypocrisy," and "foolish prayers."

He told a Madison Square Garden crowd of 17,500 in the second of a series of sermons on The Commandments that "God is an unchanging God. We may have changed over the years socially, philosophically and morally, but God's standards have not changed."

In the eyes of God, he said, "ducking out on marriage today is just as bad as it was 5,000 years ago, for you are breaking a sacred vow taken in God's name. When you get a divorce you are taking God's name in vain."

Japanese Students Protest A-Tests

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese police formed lines three deep in front of the U. S. Embassy in Tokyo today and fought off 100 enraged Japanese university students protesting the Nevada atomic tests.

A rainstorm and heavy police reinforcements appeared to have forestalled a large-scale protest, but a die-hard group of 50 students had a second angry clash with police in front of the embassy tonight.

An embassy official talked with some of the students but would not comment. He appeared after police had fought off the early group of 100 students.

Williamson Treasurer Asks Test Foreclosure

MARION, Ill. (AP) — Williamson County Treasurer Wayman L. Welborn Jr. wants the sheriff to foreclose on his farm "to set an example for all the delinquent taxpayers in the county."

Welborn, named with 36 others in a lawsuit to collect delinquent personal property taxes, said Tuesday he had planned to be among the delinquents in order to force Sheriff Carl E. Miller to "a showdown" over collection of the taxes.

The suit accuses Welborn of being behind $22,933 in his taxes.

Welborn said county residents often came to him seeking advice on their taxes.

"What they wanted to know," he said, "was whether to pay their personal property taxes or not because some of them consider them illegal."

He said he advised them to pay because the sheriff would foreclose on their property if they didn't. But Welborn indicated Miller had not held up his end.

"Now I want him to prove he'll do it," he said.

He said the county needed the money to improve schools and raise teachers' salaries.

Miller was not available for comment.

Hoffa May Seek Post

See Battle for Presidency of Teamsters When Beck Quits

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pitched battle for the throne of the giant Teamsters Union seemed likely today if James R. (Jimmy) Hoffa seeks the presidency soon to be vacated by Dave Beck.

Beck, under fire on charges of having used International Brotherhood of Teamsters funds to enrich himself and his family, announced Saturday he would not run for reelection to another five-year term next September.

Teamster sources said they "would not be surprised" if the dapper Hoffa, ninth vice president of the union in Detroit decides to try for the top spot.

However, the 5-foot, 5-inch Hoffa is under two federal indictments and can be expected to meet opposition within the giant labor organization.

The United Press learned that Beck met secretly in Seattle Saturday with Hoffa, Einar Mohn, Beck's executive assistant, and Teamster Vice President Frank Brewster before announcing his decision.

AFL-CIO Secretary - Treasurer William Schnitzler said Sunday that the decision indicated Beck realized he had no chance of remaining as head of the Team-

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

The law requires that every public building have adequate exits for people to escape from fire or other hazards. In spite of all precautions taken to assure safety, there are occasions when calamity takes place.

Panic causes people to lose their sense of direction, their balance of thinking, and their normal ways of acting. One or two people who "lose their heads" can cause the death and suffering of scores of innocent people.

There is a calm which helps folk face reality whether tragedy befalls or whether daily hardships upset the mind and soul. This peace comes from the presence of God in their lives.

We must seek this peace and power of God. The gifts of God are given to those who approach God with contrite hearts. Contrition is the first step in averting the tragedy of body, mind and soul.

CD Volunteers Can Be Called in Natural Disasters

A call to duty for over 300,000 Illinois CD volunteers could be for a natural disaster as well as an enemy attack, according to authority given by a new law signed by Gov. William G. Stratton.

Gen. Robert M. Woodward, State CD Director, announced this Bill amends the State Civil Defense law and hereafter Illinois' CD organizations will assume responsibility for disasters caused by fire, flood, tornadoes, earthquake or other natural causes. He pointed out that participation will include the Civil Defense services of communications, fire-fighting, police, medical and health, rescue and engineering; also evacuation of people from stricken areas, emergency welfare, temporary restoration of public utilities, and other related functions.

The State Director indicated that early action will be taken to set up a storm warning service. This is indispensable under the new role of Civil Defense since Illinois has had a high tornado frequency in recent years.

Under the new legislation, Civil Defense volunteers can adapt their present services to natural disasters, Gen. Woodward said.

League Owners Approve Shift of Dodgers, Giants to California

Clubs Given Until October 1 to Decide on Moves

CHICAGO (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants were set for the "California Gold Rush of '58" today in a package deal that may also transform the Cincinnati Redlegs into a New York franchise.

The way for the most drastic revision of the major league baseball map in history was officially paved Tuesday when National League club owners unanimously consented to permit the Dodgers to shift to Los Angeles and the Giants to San Francisco. The owners stipulated both clubs must make up their minds before Oct. 1.

General Manager Gabe Paul of the Redlegs did not ask similar permission to transfer the Cincinnati franchise but a top baseball official told the United Press the Redlegs will move to New York if the two other clubs move out.

It was the same official who informed the United Press of the developments which occurred Tuesday.

Fury on all Fronts
The biggest bombshell to hit baseball in years resulted in the following furious activity:

—Mayor Robert Wagner of New York said he will "do everything I can to keep the Dodgers and Giants in New York." Wagner is scheduled to take the matter up today in an emergency meeting with other city officials.

—Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles arrived in New York to press the matter with President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers and L. A. County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn predicted the "Dodgers will announce in a few days that they are shifting to the West Coast city."

—The Ohio Legislature passed by a 110-2 vote a bill which would provide the Redlegs with a new stadium. The bill, sponsored by Rep. Robert A. Taft Jr., must clear the Senate to become law.

—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick called the NL owners' action "improper" because of minor league territorial rights involved. He is without power to block the proposed shifts, however.

—In Washington, a United Press reporter said congressional reaction to the expansion of the league "is unquestionably favorable."

endorsed the idea when it was revealed exclusively by the United Press on Monday.

Both O'Malley and Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, stressed that they asked permission for the transfers "reluctantly" and left the door slightly ajar for New York City officials to change their minds.

The Harrisburg VFW baseball team will play the Murphysboro Red Wings Thursday at 2:30 p. m. at the VFW park in Harrisburg.

Bill McNew will pitch for the Vets and Dick Romonosky will catch. Murphysboro will probably have Bob Heins, a 6'5" hurler who used to play in the minor leagues for the Cardinal organization, on the hill with Ed Koenig catching.

Spahn Gains 1-0 Victory Over Reds' Don Gross; Cards Defeat Cubs, 5 to 1

By United Press
If there are any members of the Dodgers and the Giants harboring misgivings about their proposed transfers to California, they ought to consult Warren Spahn.

Since moving west with the old Boston Braves to Milwaukee four years ago, Spahn has proved he is just as good pitching on the shores of Lake Michigan as he was during his younger days on the banks of the Charles River.

The wily, 36-year-old southpaw hooked up with Cincinnati's young Don Gross in an old-fashioned pitching duel Tuesday night at Milwaukee. Gross had a no-hit, no-run game going until the eighth inning when Bobby Thomson led off the frame with a triple and later scored on Frank Torre's single to give Spahn and the Braves a 1-0 victory.

The Braves' triumph allowed them to move within 2 1-2 games of pace-setting Cincinnati and to within a half game of the Dodgers, who dropped a 3-2, 11-inning decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates. In other National League night games, Larry Jackson pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs, and the Phillies whipped the Giants, 16-6.

Chisox Down A's
In American League action, the White Sox retained their two-game hold on first place by downing the Athletics, 3-1; the Indians shaded the Tigers, 4-3, and the Yankees scored three runs in the 10th inning to defeat the Red Sox, 8-5. Baltimore and Washington were not scheduled.

Spahn allowed eight hits in chalking up his fifth victory of the season and his third over the Red-legs this year. He has always been tough on Cincinnati and now holds a 42-14 lifetime record against the Redlegs.

Pittsburgh relief pitcher Elroy Face won his own game against the Dodgers when he scored on PeeWee Reese's wild throw to the plate in the 11th inning. Don Newcombe absorbed the loss.

The Phillies ran up their highest run total in nearly three years against the Giants. Winning pitcher Bob Miller, Rip Repulski, Willie Jones and Stan Lopata each drove in three runs. Johnny Antonelli failed to retire a single batter as the Phils hopped on him.

Alaskan Temperatures

Parts of Alaska's interior have temperature ranges of 170 degrees Fahrenheit—from 100 degrees in summer to minus 70 in winter.

for four runs in the first inning and handed him his sixth loss. Moon Extends Streak

Jackson, a relief pitcher, was rewarded with his second start of the season against the Cubs and promptly set them down with only five hits. A single by Wally Moon enabled him to run his hitting streak through 21 games.

Rookie Bill Fischer allowed only six hits in pitching the White Sox to their win over the A's. He lost his bid for a shutout in the fourth inning on a homer by Hal Smith.

The Red Sox came from behind to tie the Yankees, 5-5, on Ted Williams' 11th homer of the season. But Hank Bauer doubled home two runs for the world champions in the 10th and Gil McDougald singled home the "icer."

The Rare Adventure by BERNARD FERGUSON

Georges continued: "I was going to tell you first about what went on this afternoon. She had made up her mind that you would offer us encouragement and help. She is very dynamic-minded, and I have the support of your family meant a lot to her. I may say I would not have been in any danger of your life, but she would have kept you prisoner until the rising was over. She raged all the afternoon, and sent Camille and Jules off to plan a new attack on the Gendarmerie tonight. Camille said that he could not expect any more success than he had had last night, but he is to try again. They are going to try to blow a hole in the door or the windows with gunpowder."

"I don't think they'll get near enough to lay their charges," said Allan thoughtfully, "but it's a perfectly sound idea."

"Then I was just coming along to try to get a chance to speak to you, after listening to my mother storming all the afternoon, but when I got outside your door I heard you, scratching away and waited to see what would happen."

"And your plan?"
"I don't want to see the Sek-nougais punished for my mother's insane ambitions. I don't want our family to have to go underground again for another century. I want to see our family lead the Sek-nougais in the modern fashion. I want to win the confidence of the French, and for our family to be recognized as the natural leaders, in a modern and civilized way, of our people. Little by little I want to fulfill my mother's ambitions by constitutional means. World opinion is in favor of peoples like ours, and the French will have to bow to it sooner or later."

"What do Camille and Jules think?" Allan asked him.

"Camille will support my mother to the end. When he knows what I am doing now he will try to kill me. Camille and my mother would die rather than negotiate with the French; but Jules, although he does not lack courage, would like to be delivered from this endless feud, and to see Sek-nou become a modern, well-run little state. Jules I can win over. My plan, in fact, is for Jules to be its nominal ruler, with French support, with me as his adviser. And one day, probably in our lifetime, and before we are old men, we shall win autonomy. We may have to put up with a French resident to begin with; but if we get a good one—and there are many good ones in that service—he will be useful, and not a burden."

They were now well out to sea, and Allan judged that if he went about they would easily fetch Sek-nou on their next leg.

"The easiest thing will be to sail right into the harbor in the dark, as if we were some ordinary boat coming back from fishing. That's what we'll do. I'm going about now."

The light from the breakwater was winking away at them, as if to assure them of a welcome when they should arrive. When it was only a few hundred yards distant, Allan glanced at his watch, and saw that it was just half past 11. They passed the entrance and glided alongside close under the dark Bordj el Agareb. Allan scrambled ashore with a rope onto the quay, which was only about three feet above the gunwale of the boat; and just as he got his feet squarely on the ground there was a tremendous explosion from the direction of the Gendarmerie.

"They've done it!" he said.

Emerging onto the old battlements, he ran to the corner nearest the Gendarmerie and strained his eyes to the southeast. A mass of dust hung over the Gendarmerie building, from which was coming a rattle of rifle fire. The searchlights had been switched on, and were sweeping busily in each direction; Allan was almost blinded for a moment by the glare of one as it swung round toward him. The frenzied shouts of the attackers could be clearly heard above the shooting; but within a minute the sounds of the shouts and the shooting alike died down, and all was quiet again. Yet the searchlights went on probing here and there, and Allan guessed that the attack had been beaten off.

Georges arrived at his elbow, having been left alone to struggle out of the boat and feel his way up the dark stairs.

"There will be less danger for me than for you—unless I meet Camille. I will be back in an hour at most."

Georges set off, and Allan settled down in a corner of the ruined battlements to await his return.

Nearly two hours passed, and there was no sign of Georges.

Suddenly he heard footsteps coming from the direction in which Georges had disappeared; but they were not those of Georges; they were stealthy but regular, and they came straight to the door below him. Whoever they were, they were reassuring: for if Georges had tricked him, or been forced to betray him, there would have been more than one pair of feet coming that way. Allan took station where the stairway came up the open space from the second story; and presently he heard a hesitant foot upon the steps, and saw a figure appear in what he took to be Arab dress.

Then he heard a voice calling softly, "Colonel Larg?" and realized that what he had thought Arab dress was the habit of a Franciscan. It was Pere Paleologue.

Lest We Forget...

"He was the bravest citizen . . . that did most love and best serve his country" . . . To the memory of all those brave citizens of our historical past, those men who gave up their lives that our heritage of democracy and liberty may survive . . . this day and this tribute is dedicated; with the prayer that their brave fight for peace was not in vain.

We Will Not Forget

THOSE WHO DIED FOR FREEDOM

For them, the last, long note of taps has sounded

but their battle cry of freedom rings throughout eternity.

Their unconquerable spirit marches on:

and time cannot erase the glory of their struggle or their cause.

May we preserve the principles for which they gave their youth . . . their lives . . .

that they may rest in peace forever more.
